

Premium HD Original
vs.
Premium HD Clone

OPENSAT

AZBOX

Premium HD

POWER

MEN

POWER

MENU

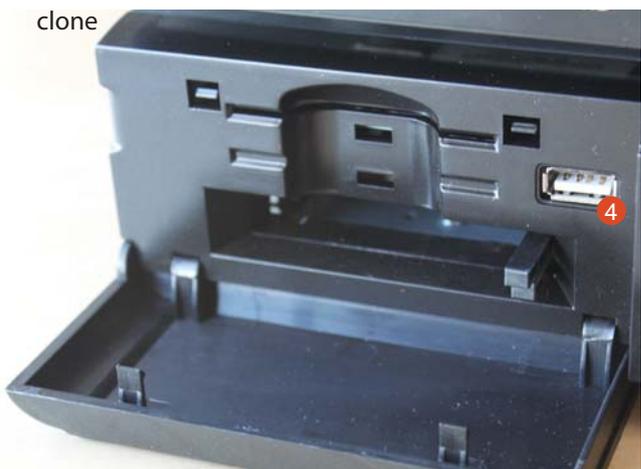

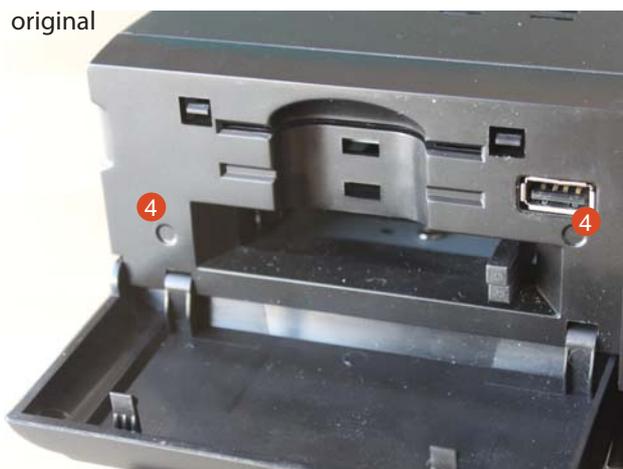

Outside Appearance

Differences

- 1 The top cover color is different. Clone is gray, the original unit is black.

Front Panel

Differences

- ② Clone buttons are darker than the original.
- ③ The font used on the front panel is different.
- ④ Inside the card reader, the original unit has two marks that do not appear in the clone. USB original input is black, in the clone sometimes is white.

Rear Panel

Differences

- 5 The switch button of the clone has “I” and “O”, the original has just “I”.
- 6 The LNB connector is gold, the original is silver. The text is different (clone: 500mA MAX; original: 200mA MAX).
- 7 The S/PDIF output is gray, the original is black.
- 8 The engravings on the back panel are different. Dolby Digital logo, RoHS... Some are present in the original and not in the clone.
- 9 The satellite tuner is different. The clone does not allow to read the engraving at the rear panel and some internal components of the tuner are also different.

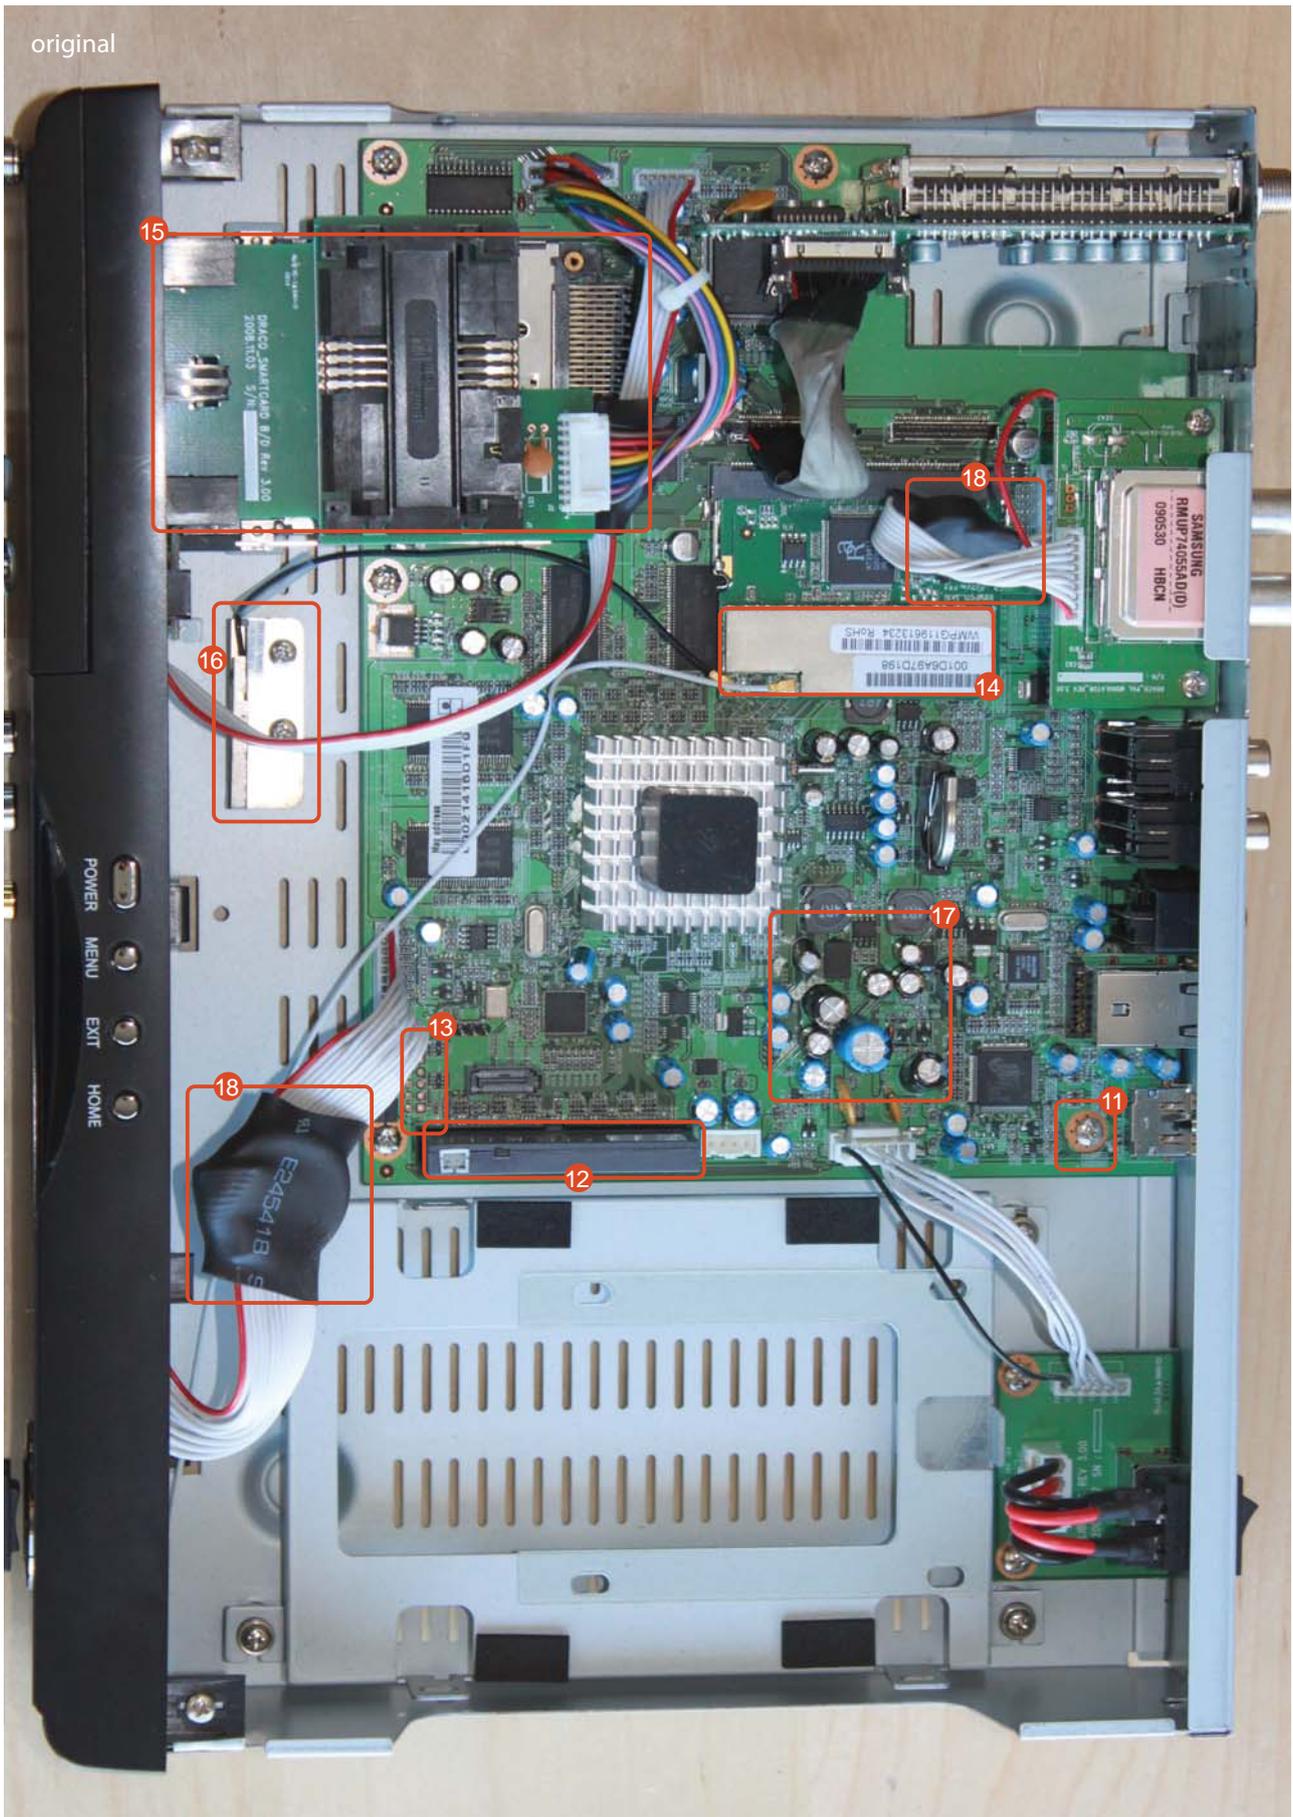

Lateral View

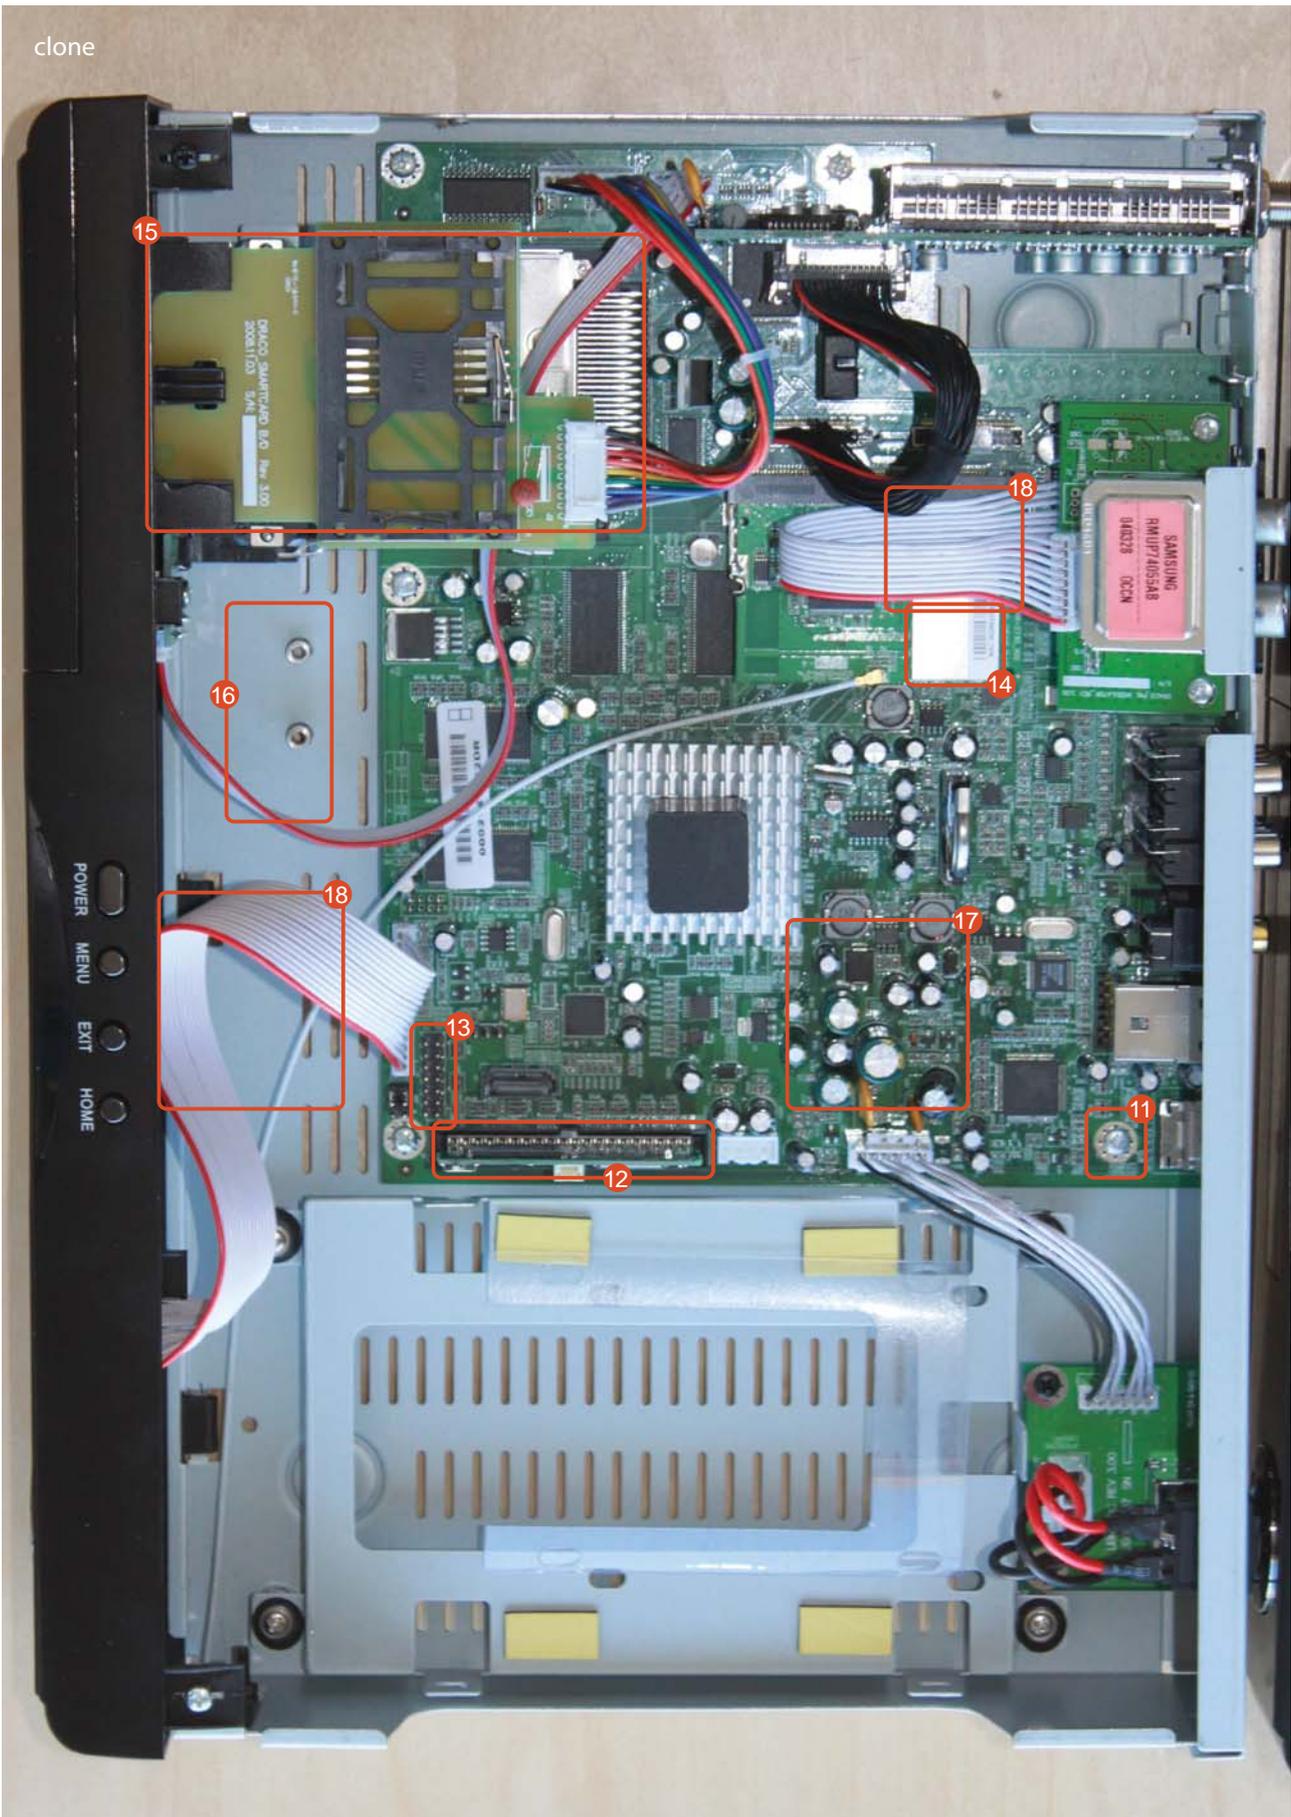

Differences

- ⑩ Side cavities have a larger diameter in the clone unit.

Interior View

Interior View

Interior View

chip CPU - clone

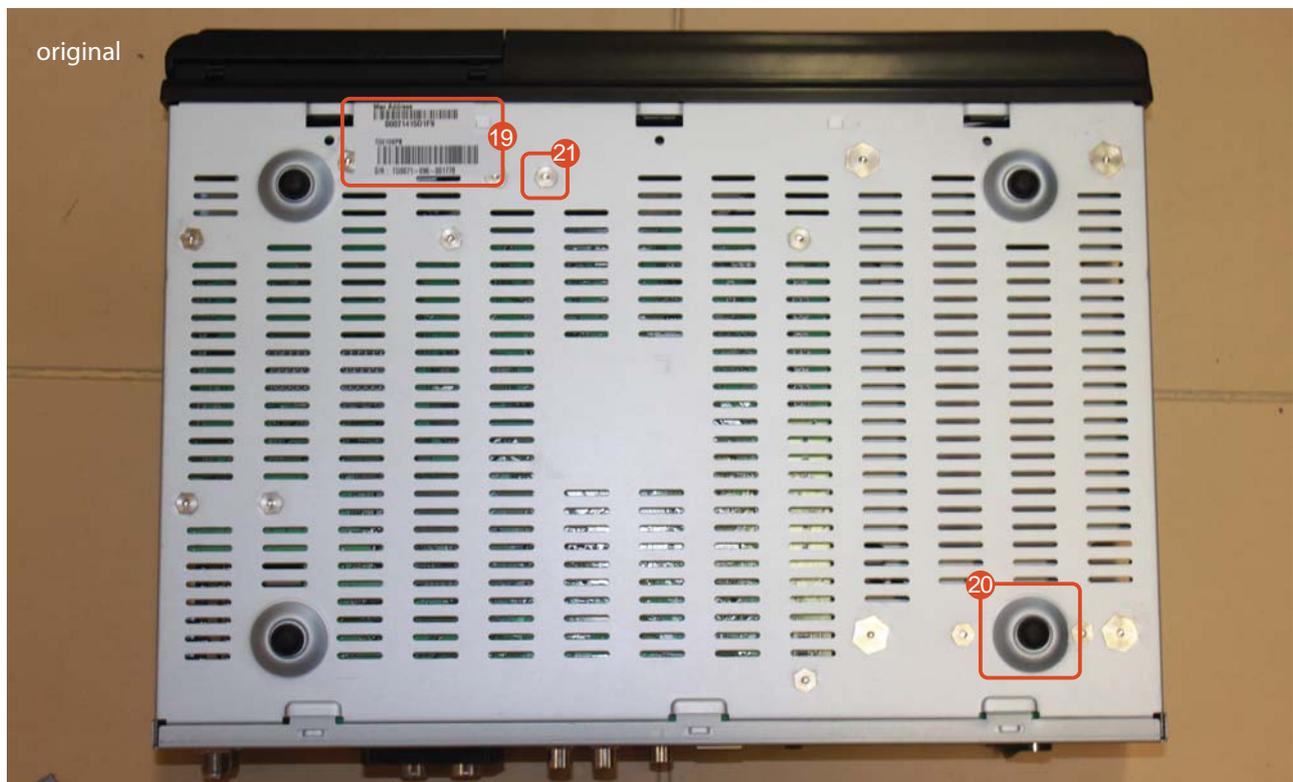

chip CPU - original

Differences

- 11 The screws are different. In the motherboard, the marks around the screws are gold, while in the clone they are silver.
- 12 The DOM does not have the hard top plastic cover which is present in the original unit.
- 13 The JTAG interface pins are present in the clone.
- 14 The metal part of the Wi-Fi is smaller in the clone.
- 15 The plastic card reader color is different (it is green in the original).
- 16 The metal antenna connection is not present in the clone.
- 17 Transistors/resistors are green (the originals are blue).
- 18 The front panel and the RF mod cable don't have hymen in the clone.

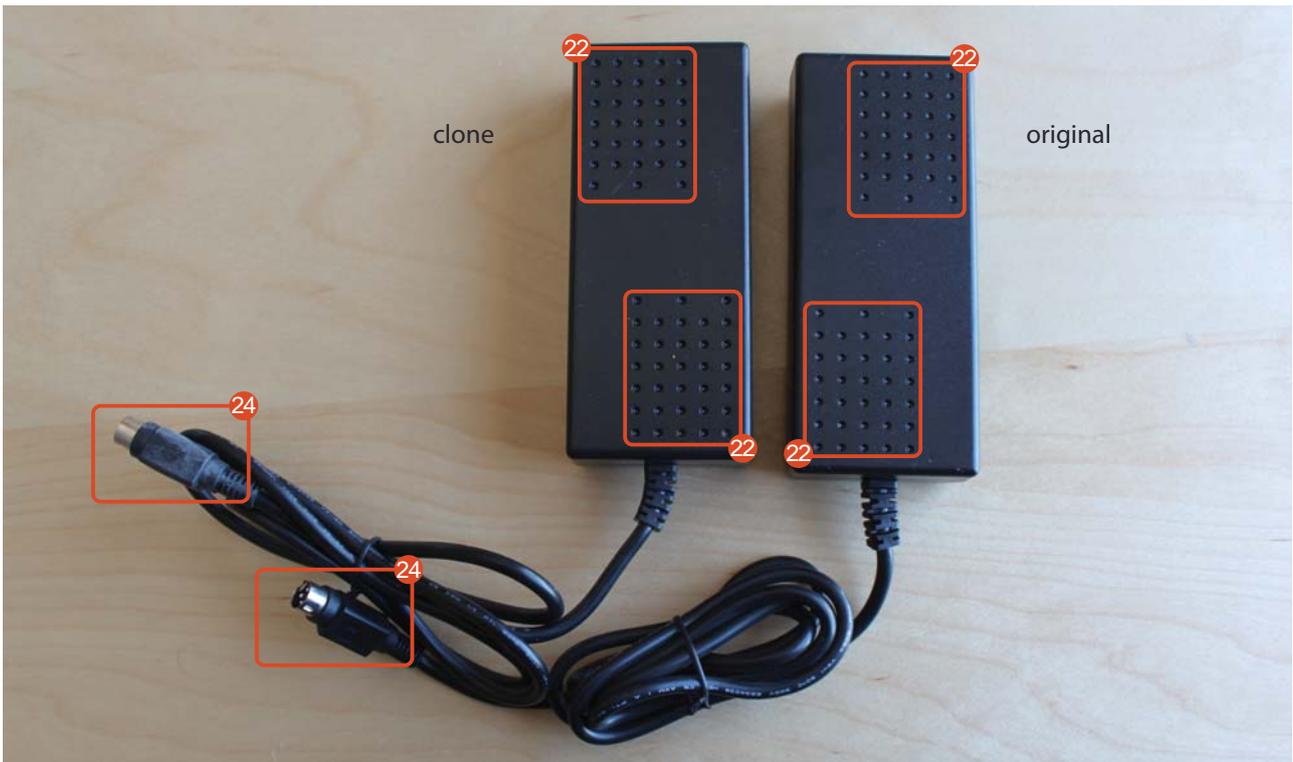

Bottom View

Differences

- 19 The MAC Address stick is different in the clone.
- 20 The rubber supports of the receiver are different.
- 21 Some fittings on the bottom of the receiver are different.

Power Supply

Differences

- 22 Front: drawings present in the clone and cable output are reflected.
- 23 Outside: the font is different
- 24 Connectors are also different.

Remote Control Unit

clone

original

clone

original

Differences

- 25 Buttons are different. They are higher and the AZBox Logo is brighter than the original. Lower quality.
- 26 There are no batteries in the clone unit. General lower quality.